Informex USA 2009 Introduction:

Informex USA is the world's most sophisticated meeting point for buyers and sellers of higher value chemistry. Top-level executives drawn from a broad range of manufacturing industries come together in an environment that has been developed to maximize productivity and promote serious networking, creating new ideas, new sourcing relationships and enhancing the commercialization of new products.

Informex USA 2009 China Buyers Delegation Introduction:

A China delegation organized by eChinaChem, Inc. and US Commercial Service will visit InformexUSA 2009. Besides seeking business opportunities during the show, the delegation will also visit US chemical and pharmaceutical companies. As China's chemical and pharmaceutical industry grows stronger, business owners there have started purchasing quality equipment, raw material and analytical instruments from US; some even in-license technologies from US. The delegation presents opportunities for US companies seeking China clients or partners.

A similar delegation already visited InformexUSA 2008 earlier this year. The delegation visited Honeywell Specialty Materials, US Import and Export Center, Johnson and Johnson, Hercules, USP, Maryland Center, and some biotech companies including MaxCyte, Inc. and BioSciCon, Inc.
